A. The 17 SDGs and the European Union

Following the UN Millennium Goals (2000), the UN 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development was adopted by the UN General Assembly in 2015.

It defined 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and 169 associated targets.

Their aim is to establish a universal, integrated and transformative framework for a better world, without poverty, with sustainable and inclusive development, human rights protection and social inclusion by 2030.

The EU made a positive and constructive contribution to the development of the 2030 Agenda.

➤ THE CHALLENGES

Horizontal approach in all EU policies

The EU is committed to implement the SDGs in all its internal and external policies through a horizontal approach.

The UN Sustainable Development Goals are mainstreamed in all EU sectoral policies and initiatives as an essential guiding principle.

The European Commission's proposals should be sustainability-assured through its better regulation tools.

Existing and new EU policies should take into account the three pillars of sustainable development:

- social
- environmental and
- economic

EU policies for Sustainable development

- Sustainable development constitutes an objective of the European Union (From 1997 - Treaty of Amsterdam to 2009 in the Treaty of Lisbon)
- The “Lisbon Strategy for sustainable growth and jobs” (2000)
- The “European Sustainable Development Strategy” (2001)
- The Europe 2020 Strategy aimed at a smart, sustainable and inclusive Europe.
- The revised EU Strategy for Sustainable Development (EU SDS) and its 7 key priorities (June 15, 2016).
- The need for EU to lead the way for the recovery of the middle countries EU, after the halt caused by the pandemic measures on the progress towards the SDGs.

Monitoring and Implementation of the SDGs in the EU

Since 2007, the EU carefully monitors the progress towards achieving the SDGs with the following tools:

- A. Registration of National sustainable development strategies and activities in the EU Member States at the portal of the European Sustainable Development Network (ESDN).
- B. Publication of Progress Reports on the EU Sustainable Development Strategy
- C. Publication of Eurostat Annual Progress reports, based on 100 indicators in line with the Global Indicator Framework of the "2030 Agenda" adapted to EU needs.
- D. Funding: All European Funds should take into account the 17 SDGs (Horizon Europe, European Social Fund etc.)
- E. Coordination of national economic policies towards the SDGs through the "European Semester".

B. EU AND SDG 16: PEACE, JUSTICE, INCLUSION

The 16th Sustainable Development Goal (SDG16) aims to build strong and just institutions in support of peaceful and inclusive societies around the world by 2030.

The EU aims at strengthening societal and state resilience by promoting the rule of law, justice, democracy and equality in order to create “an area of justice and fundamental rights, based on mutual trust“. It takes the following actions:

- reinforcing legal systems and rules, safeguarding free and fair elections, transparency, accountability and good governance;
- ensuring equal access to justice for all and protecting everyone’s fundamental freedoms by an independent and efficient judicial system;
- significantly reducing violent deaths, torture, exploitation, corruption, terrorism, cyber threats and all forms of organised crime and violence; and
- contribution to conflict prevention and peacebuilding in partner countries.

THE EUROPEAN DEMOCRACY ACTION PLAN (2020)

In 2020, the European Commission adopted the European Democracy Action Plan to empower citizens and build more resilient democracies across the EU, against rising extremism and populism. Citizens should be able to participate in the democratic system through informed decision-making, free from unlawful interference and manipulation. The action aims to:

- To safeguard electoral integrity, e.g. by regulating transparency of sponsored political content (“political advertising”) and by imposing platform liability for any false content.
- To enhance media freedom, through establishment by member states of easily accessible points of support providing free counselling, legal advice and psychological support, or digital security as well as appropriate accommodation for journalists who have become victims of crimes.
- To increase media pluralism, e.g. transparency of media ownership and state advertising. In addition, the Media and Audiovisual Action Plan aims to help the sector recover and profit of the digital transformation.
- To counter Disinformation, e.g. by strengthening the obligations and accountability of online platforms in the framework of the “Code of Practice on Disinformation” (2018), and by introducing vigorous monitoring and oversight and countering foreign interference, including imposing costs on perpetrators.

Media and Information Literacy (MIL)

'Media and information literacy' (MIL) refers to skills, knowledge and understanding that allow citizens to use media and information critically, effectively and safely in order to take well-informed decisions in a democratic system, participate in the civil society and maximize the advantages from their use.

Media literacy is the ability to access the media, maintain a critical approach towards media content, taking into account media functions and create communication in a variety of contexts (Samy Tayie, p. 351 - MIL 2014).

The EU has taken steps to promote MIL.

The importance of MIL is demonstrated by the UNESCO since 2014 and the programme of MIL CITIES, designated so by UNESCO.

In this framework, cities are called to promote partnerships to stimulate MIL through libraries (local and regional libraries, school libraries and informal community libraries). For example:

- a series of workshops offered by a library on MIL-related topics,
- a section of the library devoted to books or films on MIL-related topics,
- a library day in schools where librarians or writers explain how information is produced, the functions of media, online privacy, and/or intercultural dialogue.
